USA PAVILION AT EXPO MILANO 2015

Millions from around the world are heading to Europe in 2015 for the most exciting world's fair in decades, Expo Milano 2015: Feeding the Planet, Energy for Life. A European center of business, culture, and media, Milan will welcome 25 to 30 million visitors for this once-in-a-lifetime event. As one of the 140-plus participating countries, the United States is presenting a dynamic pavilion whose theme American Food 2.0: United to Feed the Planet will enlighten and surprise all who attend.

Our programming will welcome wide-ranging perspectives and sow common ground across the food, nutrition and policy spectrum.

Embracing the fact that we need to feed a planet of more than 9 billion people nutritiously by 2050, we'll convene around the big issues that affect us all, like food security, safety, and sustainability. We'll use the power of conversation and collaboration to strengthen bilateral ties between the United States and Europe and the rest of the global community to tackle together the enormous challenges ahead. We'll proudly introduce people from around the world to the gorgeous mosaic of our culinary tradition, diverse and far-reaching.

KEY OBJECTIVES

Showcase U.S. leadership in the global food arena as responsible and diverse;

Celebrate our nation's rich agricultural history and regional food cultures;

Underscore America's role in advancing food security and sustainability through science, technology, innovation and free trade;

Foster awareness of and enthusiasm for American cuisine, chefs, products and purveyors;

Highlight American talent, products, ingenuity and entrepreneurship and the U.S. as a premier business and travel destination;

Connect people and businesses in the U.S., Italy, and throughout Europe, building on strong historical ties;

Provide a fun, engaging, informative, and delicious experience to all.

AMERICAN FOOD 2.0: UNITED TO FEED THE PLANET

The United States was built upon the will of the individual and our collective determination to solve problems. The American spirit is one of optimism, energy and innovation, constantly striving to tackle the biggest challenges and make things better.

We bring this appetite for life and innovation to Expo Milano 2015. American food is as diverse, prolific and complex as our great nation itself, and represents both our dynamic present and vibrant future. The country's table has long been set with an abundance of conversation and debate, dialogue and resolution—a tradition we'll bring to life at the USA Pavilion at Expo Milano.

Food unites us. The global food source is something we all share and it's in our common interest to respect, protect and nurture its potential. Food is joy, celebration, nourishment and life.

Join us as we come together at the USA Pavilion, United to Feed the Planet.

"I'm proud to announce today that the United States will participate in the Expo. And together with our partners, we're going to put together an outstanding USA Pavilion that showcases American innovation to improve agriculture and nutrition and the health of people around the globe."

President Barack Obama, March 27, 2014, Rome

PROGRAMS AND EVENTS

MAIN PAVILION

Designed by award-winning architect, James Biber, the USA Pavilion pays homage to our rich agricultural history with an open design delimited by a vertical living wall that will be harvested daily. The flow leads visitors through a series of exhibitions and open gathering areas. The fully sustainable building features a large video installation, a rooftop terrace with gardens, an amphitheater, a food truck corridor, VIP meeting spaces, and retail.

A PATH OF FOOD FROM FARM TO TABLE AND BEYOND

Through different virtual tours, visitors will learn about traditional and innovative ways food is grown, processed, distributed, prepared, served, and recycled in U.S. Issues such as nutrition and food waste will be part of the narrative.

CULTURAL PROGRAMMING

Fun, informational, educational and delicious programs, including outdoor evening entertainment, celebrations of regional culture, celebrity events, musical performances, tastings, and wellness activities will complement the visitor experience.

FOOD TRUCK NATION

Food truck events will take place across the U.S. to promote the USA Pavilion and then deploy to Europe to make the final approach into Italy. Once in Milan, trucks will serve food in the city during the Expo months, while replicas will be constructed at the pavilion, serving iconic American street foods to visitors.

SOCIAL AND DIGITAL MEDIA

Cutting-edge communications and technology will be leveraged before, during and following the Expo to educate, engage and share with visitors, sponsors and key stakeholders.

JAMES BEARD AMERICAN RESTAURANT

Separate from the USA Pavilion, the James Beard American restaurant will be a showcase for fine dining and casual American cuisine that will feature a rotating roster of American culinary talent. Menus will highlight American ingredients, beverages and traditions. There will also be a bar and hospitality lounge.

STUDENT AMBASSADOR PROGRAM

American college students fluent in Italian and other languages will act as docents for the pavilion, greeting visitors and leading them through programs and experiences. The University of Southern California is organizing this program.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Before, during and after Expo Milano, we'll convene talks, salons, workshops, conferences, hackathons, and other gatherings to facilitate a global, solutions-oriented conversation about issues confronting the future of food.

WORLD EXPO: 163 YEARS OF GLOBAL INNOVATION

Since the first Expo in London in 1851, World Expos have been regarded as the Olympic Games of economics, science, technology and cross-culture dialogue, providing a global stage for individual countries to publicize and display their crowning achievements and innovations and to share ideas. For the countries and organizations that participate, Expos play an important role in public diplomacy and government relations. We have Expos to thank for the Crystal Palace, the Eiffel Tower and the Ferris wheel.

WORLD EXPO FACTS

Originally known as the World's Fair, the World Expo is today governed by the Bureau International des Expositions (BIE) in Paris

Held every five years and attracts millions of visitors:
Aichi (Japan), 2005 (22 million)
Shanghai, 2010 (73 million)

Powerful driver of local and national economies

The most important European government and business initiative in decades

A NOTABLE LIST OF "FIRSTS" WERE INTRODUCED AT EXPOS

- Elevator
- Light bulb
- Diesel engine
- Telephone
- Commercial broadcast television
- Touch screens
- Energy-efficient transit
- Advances in robotics
- Green building techniques

Food has always been an important element of World Expos. At Expos on our own soil, Americans had their first taste of such delicacies as the ice cream cone (St. Louis, 1904), French cuisine (New York, 1939), the Belgian waffle (New York, 1964), and Cherry Coke (Knoxville, 1982).

FOOD. ENERGY. PLANET. LIFE. PEOPLE.

Expo Milano 2015 will be an extraordinary universal event displaying tradition, creativity and innovation in the business and culture of food. Expo Milano will provide a global stage for possibility and the idea that everyone on the planet should have access to healthy, safe and sufficient food. A multi-year journey, Expo Milano is aimed at fostering dialogue and stimulating action to meet the challenges of the global food crisis and the sustainable development of our planet.

As always, the USA Pavilion is a cornerstone in both the State Department's and the White House's public diplomacy with Europe.

"As you look at what's happening in the world today, with about six-plus billion heading to nine billion over the course of the next 35 years, there is going to be unbelievable demand on resources. And when you couple that with climate change and the already real impacts on farming and fishing and all the other things that are part of sustaining life on this planet, we have a challenge."

Secretary of State John Kerry,
March 27, 2014, Rome
